December 12, 2020

Greetings,

It is our honor to welcome you to our signature event tonight, albeit virtually. As we celebrate the 28th Anniversary of "An Evening with the Stars" Awards Banquet and Holiday Gala, and 18 years of dedicated community service, we recognize the numerous blessings that coincide with our longevity. Driven by intense determination, Ashbury Senior Computer Community Center (ASC3) has consistently overcome numerous obstacles in efforts to provide free and low-cost valuable technology services to the community. As a result of this perseverance, ASC3 has not had a disruption in service delivery, has provided training in nearly 20 different facilities, and has trained approximately 7,800 residents in digital literacy throughout greater Cleveland. Well, no disruptions until 2020...yes, the COVID-19 pandemic!

As a result of COVID-19, most in-person services were suspended; classes at ASC3 were no exception. This sudden shift was problematic with our target population, many of whom are novice seniors to the digital world. Residents have had to abruptly transform much of their everyday lives into virtual experiences. Yet, many of these disenfranchised residents lacked the necessary Internet connectivity, equipment/devices, and /or skills to effectively make the necessary transition. To fill this gap, ASC3 implemented the Hotline for Internet Information (HII) initiative, a call-line service designed to provide high-touch, digital navigation assistance via phone and / or video-based platforms. Our mission of Digital Inclusion (access to technology) necessitated us to re-open after only three weeks, though with limited hours, by appointment only, for our students and the greater community.

The year 2020 has indeed been very challenging for us all. However, we are Blessed to say that ASC3 has been able to adjust with the trying times, and still experience many successes. We created the first ASC3 Virtual and Drive-thru Graduation Ceremony, held on June 25th; the event was a smashing success! In addition to HII as a response to COVID-19, we also developed the Digital Aviator Project (DAP), a virtual training and hot spot lending initiative. Always giving back to the community, Director Davis proudly serves as Chair of the newly formed Greater Cleveland Digital Equity Coalition convened by the Cleveland Foundation, with the charge of researching and sharing solutions to ensure our seniors are not left behind in the Digital Divide.

While the pandemic has wreaked havoc on the world in so many capacities, it has actually spawned heightened awareness of the Digital Equity & Inclusion (DEI) field. When the world had to abruptly pivot from in-person to on-line, the significance of DEI was finally recognized! At ASC3 we like to say, "The rest of the world has finally caught up to us". If you are interested in helping us in this vital work, contact us or visit www.asc3.org to donate, learn more, or simply visit the Silent Auction.

Thank YOU to everyone who has contributed to the overall success of this glorious occasion.

Mojuba! Dance Collective

Mojuba! Dance Collective (MDC) seeks to celebrate and acknowledge the stories and experiences of the African American narrative whilst honoring the cultural and spiritual dance traditions of the African Diaspora.

'Mojuba' is a Yoruba term which loosely means the art of offering reverence. In this way, we seek to celebrate, preserve and explore the narratives and artistic contributions of Black America. We strive to call into question that which we think about ourselves, our society, and our culture. It is our great pleasure to preserve and explore Black cultural identity as we challenge the mainstream.

VISION

The vision of Mojuba! Dance Collective is rooted in the promotion of cultural awareness and self empowerment. Our work seeks to restore pride and reestablish a sense of community. We aim to create communal experiences that foster cross dialogue that is mutually beneficial for both arts facilitators and the community. We are inspired to unearth the stories that celebrate, reclaim and rectify the at times tumultuous histories of African descendants. It is our intention to preserve our culture, challenge our society and validate our experiences by expanding or exploring the black narrative through the medium of dance.

Congratulations ASC3 on another great year!!

It's been quite a year, hasn't it?

When Cleveland's schools, jobs, clinics, banks, governments and churches had to go on line, we all suddenly realized why digital inclusion matters.
But ASC3 knew all along.

Congratulations and thank you to ASC3's staff, volunteers and leaders for working so hard to help our community get through this.

Knowing Our Skin

The skin keeps vital chemicals and nutrients in the body while providing a barrier against dangerous substances from entering the body and provides a shield from harmful effects of ultraviolet radiation emitted by the sun.

The largest organ of the human body is the skin. It consists of three (3) layers of tissue: The epidermis, the dermis and the subcutaneous (fat) layer. The epidermis is the relatively thin, tough, outer layer of the skin that consists of dead cells, which form a tough, horny protective covering. As dead cells are worn away, they are replaced; the new cells are reproduced by rapidly dividing living cells in the innermost part of the epidermis. The epidermis also contains melanocytes, the cells that contain melanin — the pigment that gives skin its color. Skin color is determined by the amount of melanin in these cells, not cell number, the more melanin, the darker the skin.

Dermis is the next layer of tissue. It is a thick layer of fibrous and elastic tissue that gives the skin its flexibility and strength, and contains sweat and oil glands, hair follicles and blood vessels.

Sweat glands produce sweat in response to heat and stress, as sweat evaporates from the skin, it helps cool the body. Specialized sweat glands in the armpits and genital area (apocrine) secrete a thick oily sweat that produces a characteristic body odor. When the sweat is digested by the skin bacteria in those areas. Sebaceous glands secrete a lubricating substance called sebum. Sebum is an oil that keeps the deepest layer of the skin is the subcutaneous layer mostly composed of fatty tissue, it contains blood vessels and nerves. Fat insulates the body from extreme heat and cold and provides a cushion to protect the body from injury. Many problems that appear on the skin are limited to the skin. Sometimes, however, the skin provides clues to a disorder that affects the entire body.

Roasted Kabocha Squash Soup

PREP TIME: 15 minutes

COOK TIME: 1 Hour, 30 Minutes

YIELD: Serves 4 to 6

- A half a large kabocha squash, seeded (about 3 to 4 pounds for the half)
- 1 tablespoon extra virgin olive oil - salt
- 1 1/2 tablespoons extra virgin olive
- 2 cups chopped or sliced onion
- 2 ribs of celery, sliced
- 3 cloves garlic, chopped (about 1 Tbsp)
- 1 1/2 inch piece of fresh ginger root, peeled and grated
- 1 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoons coriander
- 4 cups of chick stock
- 2 teaspoons kosher salt
- 1/4 black pepper
- Garnish with lime juice and chopped fresh cilantro

Roast the squash: Preheat oven to 400 F. Use a heavy chef's knife or cleaver (it helps if you have a rubber mallet as well) to cut the kabocha squash half into a few large pieces. Kabocha squash is thick and meaty and can be a challenge to cut. So take care! Make sure the squash is stable on your cutting board before you start to cut it.

Scoop out the seeds (you can toast them like pumpkin seeds!) and stringy insides.

Place the squash pieces on a foil or silpat lined roasting pan. Rub olive oil over all sides, and sprinkle with salt.
